Judge rules against city abortion law

► A controversial pregnancy center in the Bronx.

NEW YORK. A federal judge blocked a city law yesterday that would have required pregnancy centers to publicly post they do not offer abortion.

The law would have taken effect today, but some pregnancy centers filed a lawsuit charging that it violated their free speech rights. U.S. District Judge William Pauley agreed, ruling that the law poses a threat to First Amendment rights.

"I'm thrilled," said Chris Slattery, founder of Expectant Mother Care Frontline Pregnancy Centers. "He turned back New York City's unconstitutional attack on the First and 14th amendments."

City Council Speaker Christine Quinn, who sponsored the law, vowed to appeal the ruling, which she said "failed to protect pregnant women." ● METRO/AB

Missing boy found dead in Dumpster

► 8-year-old Leiby Kletzky found yesterday morning ► The community struggles to absorb the news ► Brooklyn man killed him in 'panic,' cops say

► Men stand on the corner of East Second Street in Kensington yesterday, where some of boy's remains were found inside Levi Aron's home, said police. The rest of his body was found in a Dumpster two miles away.

► A vigil for Kletzky

Parents panic

NEW YORK. The killing leaves New York parents questioning how much freedom they should give their own children.

Christine Krawiec, who lives on 20th Street, where Kletzky's remains were found, says she never lets her child walk home from school. "It's a mother's worst nightmare."

Susan Desocio lit a candle nearby, saying she has walked the area since she was 10 and was shocked "someone got messed with."

Heidi Flanagan, a Park Slope mother, said she is now rethinking a plan to let her daughter, now 6, walk the two blocks to school in four years, when she will be 10.

"It does seem a little scarier," she said.

SUMMER GETAWAYS

Brooklyn's Hasidic Jewish community is reeling with the news that one of their own is charged with killing an 8-year-old boy.

The frantic 48-hour search for Leiby Kletzky ended grimly yesterday when police discovered his remains in a Dumpster. Levi Aron, 35, was charged with the murder last night.

The nightmare began Monday when Kletzky's parents agreed to let him walk home alone from summer camp. They agreed to meet halfway.

But Kletzky apparently

Who is Levi Aron?

Police said Aron did not have a prior record, other than one summons for public urination.

Aron is an Orthodox Jew, and he reportedly worked for a Brooklyn maintenance supply business, where he appeared for work Tuesday. He suffered brain injuries as a child in a car crash, according to the Daily News, and has been described by those who know him as "slow."

got lost, cops said, stopping to ask Aron for directions. The boy was caught on police videotape entering the man's gold sedan.

The Hasidic community organized patrols, searching desperately for the boy and papering all of Borough Park and Park Slope with "Missing" signs. That was when Aron "panicked," Police Commissioner Ray Kelly said. "And that is why he killed the boy."

Kelly said the "horrendous" incident could not be fully explained: There are no signs the boy was molested and a motive for the abduction is unclear. When police entered Aron's apartment, they found Kletzky's remains, including severed feet, in the refrigerator.

Jacob Daskal, coordinator of the Borough Park Shomrim, said the close-knit neighborhood was particularly shattered that the alleged killer was from their neighborhood — "a community man," he said.

Man arrested for swim near JFK

► Man caught swimming naked in Jamaica Bay, near airport's fuel storage ► Taken for psych evaluation

A naked man swimming in the waters near the main aviation fuel storage area at JFK airport was arrested and charged with trespassing, the authority that runs the airport said yesterday.

Patrolling officers spotted the man at about 10:50 a.m. on Tuesday. "When the patrols approached the man, he ran toward the fuel farm and was caught near a boat dock," said Steve Coleman, a spokesman for the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

The man never entered any of the airport's restricted areas, Coleman said.

The man identified himself as Greg Rodriguez, 30,

Money talks

The poll found more than half of Americans think the economy is the country's most pressing problem.

- ▶ This poll signals the first time a public majority has put the economy at the top of the list since shortly after Obama took office.
- ▶ Talks between Obama and congressional leaders on raising the debt ceiling have made little progress.
- ▶ Republicans have insisted on spending cuts, while Democrats want tax increases, and neither side seems willing to budge.

point from June. His approval rating among independents — a group Obama needs to win re-election — fell to 39 percent from 44 percent.

Obama's standing could deteriorate quickly if the economy does not begin to generate jobs and if Washington cannot show it is capable of solving problems, Ipsos pollster Julie Clark said. "If those things don't happen, Obama will be in for a real challenge in getting re-elected next year," Clark said.

Obama and Republicans have hit an impasse in negotiations to raise America's borrowing limit before the government runs out of money to pay all of its bills on Aug. 2. That could force the government to try to prioritize its payments.

The sputtering economy and high unemployment are certain to dominate the race for the White House in 2012, and the Republican candidates for the nomination to challenge Obama repeatedly have criticized his economic leadership.

The survey was taken after a weak jobs report last week showed the U.S. economy is recovering slower than expected. REUTERS

Fed come to the rescue?

WASHINGTON. The U.S. Federal Reserve is ready to ease monetary policy further if economic growth and inflation slow much more, chairman Ben Bernanke said. While holding to a view that the economic softness would eventually pass, he appeared less confident and more willing to entertain the possibility of another stimulus. REUTERS

Obama, king of fundraising

WASHINGTON. President Obama raised a record-shattering $86 million for his re-election campaign from April to June, easily eclipsing all Republican challengers. REUTERS

Things are in the clear for these stars

Even though he's got a 1-year-old at home with wife Paula Patton, singer Robin Thicke wasn't too busy to fete the new Remy Martin V cognac at LAVO NYC on Tuesday night. Robin performed for the crowd and told us that life with his new son Julian is "amazing" and "couldn't be better." "I picked the right woman, so that's the first key," he added. A new lady for Ryan Reynolds?

Ryan Reynolds and Charlize Theron are reportedly an item, according to Us Weekly. "[The two actors] have been dating — for months! They're exclusive, and it's very hush-hush," a source says. Last year, Reynolds split from ex-wife Scarlett Johansson, while Theron broke up with longtime partner Stuart Townsend. While the new couple is reportedly quite happy together, don't expect to see them out

No more kiddies for the Beckhams

Victoria and David Beckham happily welcomed their fourth child — and first daughter — earlier this week, but don't expect them to be welcoming a fifth. Friends of the couple say baby Harper will be their last, according to People magazine. "She was saying, 'I just want her to get here and want to be holding her in my arms — not in my belly,'" a source says of Victoria in the weeks leading up to the birth. "She had not been all that tired until the end, when it is just so hard to be active so pregnant."

A marriage is still in the works

While they've resisted the urge to tie the knot during their six years together, Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie are reportedly ready to walk down the aisle, three separate sources confirm to Us Weekly. The ceremony could happen as soon as this summer and would likely take place at the couple's newly renovated

SJP: Still nervous

Sarah Jessica Parker says that, despite having plenty of experience in front of the camera, she still gets nervous at the start of each project — and her new film is no different. "I lose my appetite," she tells Vogue. "By Wednesday of the first week on 'I Don't Know How She Does It,' I was sobbing. I was apologizing. I was feeling so awful and ashamed, like I had let the director down."

Where you can BYOB in NYC

► Watching your wallet but still want to go out to eat?
► Bodega Elena de Mendoza's Carmen Castorina shares his favorite BYOBs ► Why Malbec is perfect to bring

Although New York City's BYOB scene isn't as robust as, say, Philadelphia's, there are still restaurants which let you bring your own bottle. Carmen Castorina, director of communications for Bodega Elena de Mendoza — which has recently launched a very versatile $9 bottle of Argentine Malbec — recommends the spots listed below, as well as taking along a bottle of Malbec.

"It's a grape that's accessible, meaning that it can pair well with a fairly wide variety of restaurants," he notes. "Given the diversity of spots in New York, it's a great choice."

Castorina notes that in today's economy, people are looking for a good deal, and you can't go wrong with a BYOB. "You'll get your money's worth."

▶ Wild Beasts leave Leeds for London and cure their homesick blues with great new album, warts and all

Before the band Wild Beasts began writing the songs on their third album, "Smother," they moved from the relative comfort of their hometown of Leeds to London, a place that singer and guitarist Hayden Thorpe classifies as "very suffocating" and "overpopulated with way too many bands."

From the lyrical imagery and the rhythmic uneasiness to the title itself, "Smother" is all about this difficult transition.

"The record is very much a protective blanket," says Thorpe. "The one mission statement we had with this album was to make something of beauty. I think we understood that beauty is a balance. Too much of a good thing can be sickly and actually become ugly, so it's all about the balance. If we're singing sweetly, sometimes that needs to be counteracted with a bit brutality and a bit of guts."

pat.healy@metro.us

▶ Hayden Thorpe, front, may be suffocating in London — but his gasps for air are refreshing. Catch the band tonight at Le Poisson Rouge (158 Bleecker St.) For details, visit www.lepoissonrouge.com

Love in 3-D

Brutality abounds on "Smother," with words like "I want my lips to blister as we kiss." There are a lot of lovers' songs, but no love songs.

"The thing we try to talk about is not a Hollywood sense of love," says Thorpe. "It's a human, 3-D, hypocritical sense of love. We're not always wanting to give a happy ending, because we feel that alienates. We always thought we wanted to make music for ourselves and we want the truth. In that sense, we find consoling and this record is a consoling device for us. It's a really strong thing, when I personally hear music that makes me think 'Thank God I'm not the only one.'"

Evil taxes, evil communists

RE: "DEBT DEBATE, THE SECOND DAY": Yeah, down with the "nanny do-gooder" for nothing state. For a start, let's first do away with the departments of disinformation: EPA, DEP, FEMA, FDA, TSA, DOE, DOJ, FBI, CIA, IRS, NASA, FDIC. Then down with Medicare and Social Security and finally down with all the minimum wage and burdensome child labor laws. After that, we can bring back the sweat shops from the third world so that we won't have any competition. SUZY SANDOR, NEW YORK

President Obama's stubborn and infantile refusal to raise the mythical and meaningless debt limit without conditions shows his true colors — and it isn't black, it's red! His aim will plunge our country into a national financial chaos. If his politics remain intact, he is similar to a terrorist, void of physical weaponry but just as capable of inflicting injury to all. In the end, Obama — blowing off his usual oratorical hot air and threats — knows that he must elevate the debt ceiling or face detrimental consequences, including his own failed presidency.

PETER ZACCONE, NEW YORK

I cannot fathom why Kelly Donnoe wants our country to become a third-world sweatshop. That's not the kind of country I want to raise my children in. JOSEPH CONNELL, BROOKLYN

The United States is one of the least-taxed advanced economies on the planet. Back in the good old days, under such Republican administrations as Eisenhower, Nixon and even Reagan, upper tax rates reached 70 percent to more than 90 percent, compared to a meager 35 percent today. The notion that now, as the country teeters toward bankruptcy, we must not consider increasing taxes as one means of putting our fiscal house in order is nothing more than a political soap box the Republicans have perched themselves on.

CRAIG SHOEMAKE, VIA E-MAIL

The delusional thinking behind such "nanny do-gooder" commie ideas is very old indeed. In "The Wisdom of the Bones" paleoanthropologists demonstrate how, hundreds of thousands of years ago, a member of the species Homo erectus was kept alive for weeks, despite a crippling disease, by the nurturance of a bleeding-heart conspecific. It is certainly time that we stopped acting like cavepeople and marched boldly into the Brave New World!

ROBERT B. PIERCE, VIA E-MAIL

Horoscope

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Hold off on making any important agreements with another. Although people mean well, it isn't likely they would stand the test of time.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. People in general tend to want to shift their burdens onto someone else, so if anybody thinks you're an easy mark, this person will try to dump his or her work in your lap. Don't be had.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Depending too heavily on Lady Luck instead of your own abilities will guarantee you to fall at whatever it is you're trying to pull off. Avoid getting involved in anything chancy.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Don't be unduly awed by titles or trappings. Just because someone has a title doesn't necessarily make him or her bigger than life. It only defines the job the person is assigned to do.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. For the sake of peace, don't let yourself be drawn into a debate with someone who loves to argue. You won't be able to turn him or her off.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. It's wise to abide by your instincts about participating in any kind of financial debate with someone who always thinks he or she is right.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Underestimating the competition is always a mistake. Thus, regardless of how inept you think someone is, take him or her seriously.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Think twice before absentmindedly being unrealistically generous to someone who doesn't deserve it. There's a good chance that on impulse you'll give away something you'll regret.

♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. If you have a choice, avoid any gathering where someone who makes you feel uncomfortable is likely to be in attendance. You won't have any fun.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. It would be best not to depend on another to do something for you that you know the person really doesn't want to do. She or he will either do a bad job or totally let you down.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Don't try to impose your views on someone who you know will be unresponsive to what you have to say. All you'll accomplish is making this person stand even firmer.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. The handling of your resources isn't likely to be your strong suit today, so it behooves you to be as prudent as you can. Additionally, it would be wise not to offer any financial advice.

Vyke enters the VoIP marketplace

► New affordable calling system reduces how much you spend to talk with farthest-flung friends

A new player has entered the competitive Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) market, promising some of the cheapest and best-quality calls available, accessible through either a cell phone or a PC. Vyke.com says its calls come without sound distortion common to other VoIP providers.

On a cell phone, the service is accessed by downloading an app that runs in the background and which opens automatically when a user makes a call.

Vyke also promises to let users keep their SIM card, number and handset, and offers calls not only via a data connection, but also via Wi-Fi, GPRS/GSM, PC, landline and 3G.

Tore Hellebo, CEO of Vyke, told Metro: "It's a crowded VoIP market, but we firmly believe VykeMobile has a strong and differentiated positioning. We anticipate significant growth over the next six months as There's little history to Royal St. George's, and no mystique. It's not the birthplace of golf like St. Andrew's or an impossibly difficult test like Carnoustie.

When a venue crowns Ben Curtis as champ, the course bears the brunt of criticism. Ask Ian Poulter about the course at Sandwich, and he'll say "it's an average course at best."

The 18 holes are widely considered the most

CHAMPIONSHIP

"Graeme McDowell proved his mettle in 2010, as both a major champion as well as on the grand stage of the Ryder Cup."

quirky, fluky among the Opens. But isn't that what's so loved about link golf? The creativity, the nuance, the ability to define a champion who does more than lasers his seven iron more precisely than anyone else that week. It's got humps and bumps, wacky lies and nothing's a given.

But when in golf is anything a given? Who will emerge? Who will surprise? Read on:

Who will win the 2011 British Open? Score?

Graeme McDowell, -4. The gutty Northern Irishman proved his mettle in 2010, as both a major champion and on the grand stage of the Ryder Cup. He's been off his game in 2011, but has shown flashes. Long putts fall at the British Open, and I can't think of a single golfer who's dropped more crucial putts the last year than McDowell. He has the look of a multiple major winner to me, and the tougher Royal St. George's plays, the better his odds of emerging.

Top 10 player to miss the cut and one sub-50 player who contends?

Tough one here. Mickelson seems the obvious choice, but something just ain't right with Martin Kaymer. I'll say he struggles and misses the weekend. Angel Cabrera, ranked 75th in the world, has been hit and miss at the Open, but he'll be right there on Sunday.

One other name to keep in mind: Sweden's Fredrik Andersson Hed.

What are your feelings about Royal St. George's?

The Open rota is full of historic spots. Part of my enjoyment this week is learning a lot more about the venue, so I'm taking an open mind into Royal St. George's. I know it's got a reputation as quirky, but I love that and think the most creative golfer will hoist the jug on Sunday.

Head-to-head: McIlroy vs.

Westwood? Donald vs.

McDowell? Top American?

Westwood is always right there and McIlroy has barely touched his clubs since Congressional. Lee takes him, but both play well, Top 15. McDowell's my pick to win, but I'd be shocked if Donald doesn't finish top 5. Jeff Overton will be top American (finished 13th and 11th past two Opens).

Where do you stand on links golf?

I experienced true links golf for the first time this spring at Royal Porthcawl in Wales. Hitting a 350-yard five wood, a 225-yard nine iron and a 120-yard driver and 60 yard putt all in the same round really opened my eyes to the different ways to play. It's not all about point and shoot that we know so well in American golf.

There was no last-second header, no miracle cross or penalty shootout. It was just an old fashioned American whooping.

The U.S. women's national team started out slow, but they finished with the best final 10 minutes they have played all tournament, beating France, 3-1, in the semifinals of the Women's World Cup.

The score was tied 1-1 until U.S. forward Abby Wambach netted on of her signature headers off a corner kick in the 79th minute. Twenty-two-year-old Alex Morgan finished the match off for good with a goal in the 82nd minute.
